

POOLING RISK CONTROL

All public entities face a wide range of operational risks that threaten people, property and operations. In recent years, the demand for risk management services by public entity groups has grown dramatically.

Public entities are increasingly faced with new and unusual risks – workplace violence, extreme conditions brought on by climate change, costly employment practices suits – in addition to long-standing exposures. Has your risk management program changed to keep pace?

The Willis Pooling Practice Risk Control Services team can help answer that question and help lead the way toward better risk control. We monitor your exposures, your current loss control programs and your past accident/loss experience and then identify areas of opportunity. We develop strategic business risk programs and risk control processes and systems. We assist with governance issues, property evaluations and technical/engineering problems. Through proactive risk control practices, our consultants can provide your organization with the expertise, tools, programs and strategies to effectively address and manage the exposures that confront your organization – and reduce your cost of risk.

WHO WE SERVE

- Construction
- Health Care facilities
- Hospitality and recreation
- Restaurant chains
- Energy
- K-12 public schools
- Theme/amusement parks
- Food and drink processors
- Heavy and light manufacturing
- Government agencies
- Transportation and distribution
- Wholesale and retail
- Colleges and universities
- Auto dealerships

WHAT WE DO

- Help control risk and insurance-related costs through sound loss control and risk management techniques
- Help improve current loss control efforts by guiding you toward a more focused and proactive approach
- Help identify conditions that could violate federal, state and local regulations
- Provide onsite consultative sessions that focus on specific aspects of loss history or other targeted goals
- Develop a broad range of loss control support, assistance and resources to your risk and operations management
- Utilize our working relationships with external consultants to answer specialized concerns

Willis

- Help mitigate the financial impact of risks through business continuity planning

KEY SERVICES AND SOLUTIONS

- Business continuity planning
- Development of risk self-assessments
- Loss analyses
- Claim management assistance
- Early return to work/injury management programs
- HR Support
- Committee training
- Property and sprinkler evaluations
- Regulatory compliance
- Ergonomics
- Proactive accident investigation
- Program evaluation and audits
- Emergency operations planning
- Regulatory compliance/governance support
- Wellness programs
- Best practices
- Hazard recognition and evaluation
- Law enforcement liability
- Strategic decision risk analysis

WHY WILLIS

- Willis is the only major broker with a staff devoted to risk pooling.
- Like all Willis resources, Willis Pooling Risk Control consultants are available to all Willis clients through our One Flag culture, where experts from various disciplines come together for maximum advantage.
- The breadth and depth of our experience have taught us that no two pools are alike, positioning us to offer creative advice and customized solutions to pools no matter what services they provide their members and what administrative structures they have.
- Willis is one of the world's leading risk management and insurance intermediaries. We have 20,000 Associates serving in 400+ offices in some 100 countries.

CONTACT

For additional information or to obtain the name of your local Willis Pooling Risk Control professional, visit www.willis.com or contact:

Bob Lombard

775 323 1656 ext. 19

bob.lombard@willis.com