

Environmental Practice

We provide environmental insurance expertise, including specialized market knowledge, technical support & claims advocacy

- Environmental risk experts and brokers help clients design, negotiate, and deliver superior risk management insurance programs with carriers best matched to each client's risk and exposure profile while providing optimum terms, competitive pricing and a solid platform for negotiating the best settlement for a difficult claim.
- We help protect your balance sheet from uninsured, unbudgeted, out-of-pocket expenses associated with environmental cleanup obligations, potential long-tail liability, toxic tort claims, third-party liability (bodily injury/property damage) and/or legal defense costs stemming from a variety of exposures including operational, known, unknown, legacy or future environmental issues.

Environmental Practice

-  The first insurance brokerage group dedicated to the field of environmental liability
-  We serve thousands of clients worldwide
-  We address environmental insurance, surety, and financial assurance needs
-  Our clients range in size from the middle market sector to multi-billion dollar global businesses
-  Some of the industries we serve include construction, chemical manufacturing, contractors, healthcare, financial institutions, utilities, energy, waste disposal, commercial real estate, and contaminated site redevelopment
-  We have the necessary knowledge base and breadth of experience to understand and anticipate the particular environmental risks of each business
-  Our team can identify and assist in quantifying exposures, help mitigate the financial impact, and assist in developing risk control practices and prudent risk transfer, and alternative approaches to coverage
